

A Bad Beginning-New Broadway Musical

- A. Well, guys, I worked hard. You worked hard. We all worked hard...What happened last night? You were terrible! The show was terrible! Whitney!
- B. Yes. Mr. Bob?
- A. Look, Whitney. You're a good singer. You usually sing well.
- B. Thank you, Mr. Bob.
- A. But last night, you sang badly, Whitney. What happened?
- B. I don't know, Mr. Bob...I sang the last song well.
- A. "I sang the last song well". You forgot the words, Whitney! Why are you laughing, Jason!
- C. Sorry, Mr. Bob.
- A. Jason, you're famous. You're a great dancer. I saw you dance in Boston. You danced very well. You're the star of this show.
- C. I'm sorry about last night, Mr. Bob. I had one or two problems...
- A. One or two! First you lost your shoe. Then you danced badly in the love scene...
- C. I had only one shoe, Mr. Bob.
- A. And finally, Jason, finally...you fell into the orchestra pit.

Vocabularies:

Terrible- causing great fear or alarm; dreadful

Famous- well or widely known; excellent

Dancer- someone who moves rhythmically usually to music, using prescribed or improvised steps and gestures.

Great - remarkable or outstanding in magnitude, degree, or extent

Expressions:

You were terrible! The show was terrible
Bad; horrible; awful; shocking

Practice:

- A. Well, guys, I worked hard. You _____hard. We all worked hard...What _____ last night? You were terrible! The show was _____! Whitney!
- B. Yes. Mr. Bob?
- A. Look, Whitney. You're a _____ singer. You usually sing well.
- B. Thank you, Mr. Bob.
- A. But last night, you sang _____, Whitney. What happened?