

I have some coins I need to change.

Storyline: Leigh has too many coins and wants to have a twenty-dollar bill instead. So she goes to the bank.

Teller: May I help you, Miss?

Leigh: Yes. I have some coins that I need to change.

Teller: That's great! I can use some change. I'm almost out.

Leigh: You must be very busy today, I guess.

Teller: We're always busy, but today it's crazy. Now, how do you want it?

Vocabularies:

Busy- engaged in activity, as work; occupied.

Crazy- affected with madness or insanity

Today- during or on the present day or time.

Expressions:

May I help you, Miss/Sir?

- Yes, I have some coins that I need to change.

That's great!

We're' / I'm always busy, but today it's crazy.

Practice:

A: May I _____ you, Miss?

B: Yes. I have some _____ that I need to change.

A: You must be very busy _____, I guess.

B: We're always _____, but today it's crazy

Explain: Give your answer in sentence.

1. Does your bank allow you to change coins to bills?
2. Have you gone to the bank and ask them to change your coins to bills or vice versa? How did you do it?
3. What are the other establishments that allow people to change their money?