

MY TEACHER

Miss Sue could not have been wanting suitors, for in her youth she had been pretty; and even now at fifty, she had a quite dignified charm with her clear, friendly eyes, fine and smooth cheeks, and small expressive mouth. There was a model teacher, kind and understanding. Although she never raised her voice or grew angry, we the children, never thought of misbehaving in her class. Every day with her we found our stay fruitful and enjoyable.

(Questions:

1. Pick out the words that describe Miss Sue's appearance.
2. Pick out adjectives that tells about her character.
3. Why did the children find their stay with her, fruitful and enjoyable?
