

SAVE AT LEAST 1 HOUR FOR ME

Mr. Lim is a business man, and a busy person. He has a son who is eleven years old. They rarely see each other though they are living in the same house. Mr. Lim went to his office very early and got home late in the evening. One Monday evening Mr. Lim was surprised because his son was still awake. "Oh son is there any problem?" he asked. "None Dad I just want to ask how much do you earn in an hour", the son replied. "Is that the reason why you are still awake?" Yes, Dad". "Oh common son tell me if you need money." "Dad, how much do you earn in an hour." Please Dad tell me". " Okey, I earned $20.00 in an hour." "Dad, wait for me". the boy rushed to his room and Mr. Lim was confused. "Dad, can I borrow $10.00." "Okey here is $10.00, go to your room now and sleep."

"Thanks Dad." The boy got inside his room with smile in his face. Mr. Lim really amused because only now that his son asked for a money. "Where did he spend the money he gave for his son's one week allowance.

Good Morning Dad, the son greeted his father. Then the son brought out something in his pocket. "Daddy, I have $20.00 now, can I buy an hour of your time?"

Questions:

1. How old is the son in the selection?
2. How much did Mr. Lim earn in an hour?
3. How much did the son ask to borrow?
4. Why did the son want to buy 1 hour from his father`s time?
5. Is it enough that parents give their children their material needs?
6. How do you spend time with your family, your parents?
7. How do you show your love, care, and respect to your parents?